Prime CFO Services Announces Partnership with Comdata

Prime CFO Services adds virtual credit cards and e-payments for accounts payable to its suite of outsourced financial services

Radnor, PA – May 9, 2017: Prime CFO Services (Prime CFO) today announced a partnership with Comdata, one of North America’s largest commercial MasterCard issuers, to provide e-payment and credit card services. Prime CFO is now offering businesses the option to pay their vendors electronically using the Comdata virtual MasterCard payments system. Virtual credit cards are better than printed checks because payments are delivered electronically with a secure, single-use MasterCard number.

“Using the capabilities of Comdata’s unique payment technology, businesses will enjoy new efficiencies and save money. With virtual credit cards, businesses significantly reduce the cost and inefficiencies associated with the printing, mailing and reconciliation of traditional paper checks,” said Peter Cocchia, CPA, CCIFP, founder and principal of Prime CFO.

“Additionally, by using the virtual MasterCard and other Comdata corporate credit card products, businesses get access to a new and potentially lucrative revenue stream. The virtual MasterCard pays monthly rebates on spending that directly improves the bottom line,” said Cocchia.

As a technology company that is focused on payments, Comdata has built a virtual credit card solution that delivers results for clients that dramatically exceed market averages. The result is greater cost reduction by eliminating more paper checks and greater rebate revenue because more transactions are converted to card payments.

“We’re excited about partnering with Prime CFO Services to help their clients automate accounts payable,” said Chris Shanahan, Vice President of Strategic Partnerships at Comdata. “We are focused on helping businesses build world-class financial operations and payment programs and I know Prime CFO Services shares that mission.”
